

LIVE OUT RUSSIAN SPEAKING NANNY JOB
FULL TIME NANNY JOBS | KENSINGTON | LONDON
SALARY: 20 GBP / Hour (around 47,500 GBP / Year Gross)

PHS Job 2396

A lovely family are looking for a live out Russian Speaking nanny for a newborn who is expected to arrive in October 2023. The family are based in South Kensington. Gloucester Road and South Kensington stations are a 10 minute walk from the family home.

The maternity nanny duties would include establishing the babies' sleeping routine, assisting with feeding, changing nappies and general caring for the baby's wellbeing. You will be responsible for all maternity nurse duties. When the baby is sleeping, you could also be asked to occasionally help with some errands such as baby's laundry and taking care of toys.

We are currently seeking an individual fluent in Russian, as both parents communicate primarily in Russian, their native language. It is their desire for the children to be raised learning Russian and fully embracing the associated culture.

This household is fully staffed. Additionally, two other nannies are responsible for looking after two older children aged 1,4 and 7 – both girls. The family also employ a housekeeper.

When the mother is alone with the baby and one of the nannies has a day off, they might ask the maternity nanny to babysit one of the older children. The parents have a policy of never leaving a single nanny alone with more than one child; there will always be co-nannies working together for the family.

The ideal Maternity Nanny for this role should possess extensive experience and flexibility. Being tactful, composed, organised, socially adept, enthusiastic, kind, affable, well-structured, and self-sufficient are also important qualities. If you can shoulder responsibility, foster engagement, and assist the mother in keeping track of the baby's growth and development, then this position is perfectly suited for you!
