

FULL-TIME TRAVELLING NANNY JOB TRAVELLING NANNY
Salary: 71 000 GBP GROSS/YEAR PLUS

PHS Job 2490

Our new clients, a lovely family, are seeking a professional full-time traveling nanny (with the possibility of extending the contract after its expiration) to care for their 6-month-old son. The family resides in the UK for approximately 2 months a year, in Italy for about 6 months, and spends around 4 months traveling. The nanny will mainly stay in Italy with the baby and will travel with the family for around 2 months a year. Therefore, the role of the Full-Time Traveling Nanny will require a basic knowledge of English and experience in proxy parenting.

As the position involves travelling, visa support will be provided by the family if necessary.

The nanny will be offered a separate ensuite bedroom in the family's properties and separate hotel rooms during travelling.

The family is seeking an experienced, communicative, smart, initiative-taking, positive thinking, open-minded, kind, and friendly nanny who can maintain professionalism while being a friend to the child.

The contract for this position will be subject to annual renewal, contingent upon mutual agreement between the family and the employer.

Throughout the contractual period, the nanny is anticipated to be on duty 24 hours a day for five days a week supplemented by an additional four hours of complete rest each day. This arrangement reflects the parents' commitment to ensuring the nanny has time for rest and recuperation. The nanny will have two complete days off during the work week. Occasional proxy parenting will be required, ranging from 2 days to 2 weeks, with refundable days off. After 5.5 months, the full-time traveling nanny will be given a month off, with the possibility of splitting it.

The preferred professional nanny should possess basic medical education or demonstrate extensive experience with infants, having worked with at least three babies aged 6 months or older in separate families. Flexibility, a positive demeanour, innate happiness, and a clear understanding of 'personal boundaries' are essential attributes for the ideal candidate. Additionally, the candidate should be pet-friendly, as the family plans to have a Cocker Spaniel next year.
